

SHE WILL ALWAYS MISS YOU

written by Victoria Bowlin

Verse 1

After fifty six years of marriage, the Lord called him home. He'd been sick for quite some time, but she had never felt so alone. Though her family and friends were right by her side, she knew that it'd be hard without him.

Chorus

She will always miss you, though some good times still remain. Her love will never go away. It will always stay the same. Though the pain will last a lifetime, God's always there to say, "He's only gone for a little while, and you'll meet again someday."

Verse 2

At home in the dark is where she lay. She sits in her chair practicing crochet. She thinks about him every single day and about what he said before he passed away. He said, "Sugar Pie, I wish that you could come along, but this is a journey I'll have to take alone. Oh I'm going home."

Chorus

She will always miss you, though some good times still remain. Her love will never go away. It will always stay the same. Though the pain will last a lifetime, God's always there to say, "He's only gone for a little while, and you'll meet again someday."

Tag

Though the pain will last a lifetime, God's always there to say, "He's only gone for a little while, and you'll meet again someday."